ANNOTATED 1874 TO 1921.

PREFACE.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE LIBRARY

TABLE OF STATUTES.

The purpose of this bulletin is to furnish to the legal profession and such other citizens as may be interested, the status of the numerous acts of assembly of a general nature, adopted in Pennsylvania since the year eighteen hundred and seventy-four. It is the intention of the Bureau at some later time to prepare and publish a similar table of general acts covering the period from eighteen hundred until eighteen hundred and seventy-three.

The material herein contained has been ascertained by a careful reading of each act of assembly and the decisions of the Supreme and Superior Courts, up to and including Vol. 270 of the Supreme, and Vol. 76 of the Superior Court Reports. As each act of assembly or decision of the court was read, its effect by way of direct repeal, amendment, supplement, constitutionality or repeal by implication was noted on the margin of the pamphlet laws opposite the act or section affected. It is from these notes that this publication is compiled. It is in no sense to be considered official.

To facilitate the use of this bulletin the reader should bear in mind that all references to acts or sections are to the first page on which the act in question appears in the pamphlet laws.

The table is arranged as nearly as possible in the following order:—

1. First the pamphlet law page on which the act begins is stated together with the date of the approval of the act.

2. If the act in question amends or supplements a prior act, the citation of the prior act or part of the act so amended or supplemented is next given in parenthesis, together with any subsequent amendments.

3. If the act in question contains but one section or is an act of several sections and has been totally repealed, amended, supplemented or supplied by a subsequent act, this is stated next.

4. Each section of the act in question is next cited, showing any subsequent change affecting a particular section. All sections cited are sections of the act in question.

5. Where the entire act has been repealed or amended the several sections are not given unless there was a prior change affecting any of the sections.

253695

6. Where there exists another act on a like subject with the act in question but in no way affecting it directly by repeal, amendment, supplement or otherwise this is stated in parenthesis, following the citation of the act with its several sections. If similar to a particular section, it will follow the section. In this respect the table is not complete. It contains such references only as have come to the attention of the Bureau.

7. Any explanatory notes, as defects in title, construction of words, omissions in citation, unconstitutional acts so declared by the Supreme or Superior Court are next given in parenthesis, except where they affect a particular section, in which case such notes are given in connection with the particular section.

Following each session of the General Assembly the Bureau will prepare a chronological table of acts affected by the laws adopted at that session, which will be printed at the end of the bound volume of pamphlet laws, in the same manner as the table published in the pamphlet laws of nineteen hundred and twenty-one. These tables will serve as supplements to the present work until such time as it may be necessary to publish a cumulated supplement or a complete new table.

We request that in the use of this table all references be verified. In a publication of this character, involving so great a mass of detail, it is utterly beyond conception to think that errors may not have occurred. We shall appreciate if the person into whose hands this publication comes will call our attention to any errors which he may have found, so that they may be corrected in later supplements or tables.

JAMES N. MOORE, Director,
Legislative Reference Bureau.
